

Hundreds of industry decision-makers meet to analyze and discuss plans to buy, sell and transport natural gas in the U.S. Southeast market

The LDC Gas Forum Southeast occurs April 15-17, 2019 at the InterContinental Buckhead Atlanta.

HOUSTON, TEXAS (PRWEB) APRIL 04, 2019

Over three hundred fifty industry professionals will convene in Atlanta in April to analyze and discuss the Southeast natural gas market and conduct business transactions. The 19th Annual LDC Gas Forum Southeast takes place April 15 - 17 in Atlanta, GA. This is the premier gathering for natural gas industry professionals, which is much more than simply a conference in that participants routinely complete transactions during the event.

The Southeast U.S. continues to be a natural gas market in transition. Natural gas fired power generation is growing substantially, new facilities to export LNG are coming on stream, and historical pipeline transportation paths are being re-plumbed in response to growing supply availability in non-traditional basins.

BP Energy's Chief Operating Officer – Natural Gas, Jared Kaiser provides a keynote presentation about challenges and opportunities for natural gas in the region, and the industry at large. The Program also includes five other Keynote presentations including Kim Greene, Chairman, President and CEO, Southern Company Gas (premier U.S. gas/electric energy company perspective); David Schryver, Executive Vice President American Public Gas Association (public and community-owned natural gas utility perspective); Teri Viswanath, Managing Director, Global Energy Research Advisors (regional optionality of supply considerations); Richard Smead, Managing Director, Advisory Services, RBN Energy (impact of substantial growth in LNG exports); and James Fowler, Senior Energy Analyst, ICIS (Mexico gas market implications on the region).

The Program also includes four moderated panels discussing a variety of topics. A total of thirteen presentations from a well-qualified group of industry executives and thought leaders, including representatives from: Bank of America Merrill Lynch, Duke Energy, CF Industries, ConocoPhillips, Dominion Energy/Atlantic Coast Pipeline, Kinder Morgan, Williams, Direct Energy, Prometheus Energy, D&S Americas/Chart Inc., NiChe LNG, EMEX Utility Group, Southern Company, ArcelorMittal, Tennessee Valley Authority, and Municipal Gas Authority of Georgia.

This Forum focuses on the Southeast U.S. market, while five other Forums throughout the year address other key regions across the continent.

Participants at the Forum include market leaders, decision makers and subject matter experts. Industry segments represented include utilities, industrial gas consumers, producers, pipelines, marketers, regulators and analysts. The 2½-day format is carefully structured for participants to hear from industry authorities about market developments, network with existing and new colleagues, and ultimately conclude transactions involving purchase, sale and transportation of natural gas.

Even in today's digital age, natural gas market participants appreciate a venue that facilitates face-to-face interaction. The LDC Gas Forum is uniquely structured to meet this requirement and has been the venue of choice for decades. Registration is still available at <http://www.ldcgasforums.com/se/>

The LDC Gas Forums, the US-Mexico Natural Gas Forum, and the Gulf Coast Energy Forum are the premiere regional events where the Natural Gas Industry meets. This is where buyers and sellers meet and do business. For over thirty years, thousands of attendees attend one or more of the five regional Forums across the continent to discuss vital regional and national issues affecting all aspects of the natural gas marketplace. Timely panel discussions featuring key industry authorities focus on important questions facing buyers, sellers transport
